*Formerly there was no Feast of the Holy Family and it was simply the Sunday within the Octave of Epiphany. After this, on whatever day of the Octave it may fall, the lessons are no longer taken from the Epiphany Octave, but from the First Week after Epiphany. It is (somewhat confusingly) separate from the First Sunday after Epiphany, and is transferred to Saturday (which is why there are no lessons for the Seventh Day of Epiphany) when the Octave Day of the Epiphany falls on Sunday itself (which is the only case when the lessons of the First Sunday after Epiphany are used). Before the institution of the Feast of the Holy Family the lessons were: Rom 16:1-5, Rom 16:17-19, and Rom 16:21-24
